The Real EARTHQUAKE

Ced The Entertainer and Earthquake enjoy a laugh on set. 2019 sees Quake as a recurring character on Ced's hit show, The Neighborhood.

Washington DC's own comedian, actor and voice-artist, Earthquake earned a strong fan-base in stand-up comedy via programming platforms fueled by BET, HBO, Comedy Central, Showtime and more. Born Nathaniel Stroman, 'Quake' (as he's known by fans), entered America's households on the classic run of BET's Comic View and HBO's comedic rites of passage program, Def Comedy Jam. Pointedly, Earthquake wowed audiences with one of his most memorable performances for HBO's coveted 30-minute comedy special series, One Night Stand.

While becoming one of the hottest properties of the standup comedy circuit, Earthquake filmed a string of comedy specials. The specials include, About Got Damm Time, Walter Latham Presents, From the Outhouse to the Whitehouse and more recently These Ain't Jokes which premiered on the Showtime Network. Quake's fans also enjoy an extensive cluster of comedy content collector's DVD's as well such as the Shaq's All-Star Comedy Jam DVD Collections.

 NASCAR

Beats By Dre's Pill Campaign sought out Comedian Earthquake for creative voice during the height of awards season for the uber popular MTV Video Music Awards. The idea was to allow the comedians non-scripted creative license while taping the animated production. What 'Quake' would say about Miley Cyrus went instantly viral; an element of the marketing the company hoped would be impacted. #SOCIALMEDIA
